

So, Whatever Happened with GPL?

Dan Rope
Illumitek, Inc.

The GPL, originally presented at the 1998 Data Visualization Workshop, evolved into a formal software product called nViZn; and, more recently, it was spun-out from SPSS into a new company called Illumitek (<http://www.illumitek.com>). During the past three years we have seen a wide variety of ideas, implementations, issues, challenges, etc. of on-line data visualization. This talk will review what nViZn is all about, demonstrate some practical uses of nViZn, convey what we have learned, and talk about the future of nViZn.
